Behavioral modeling in VHDL simulation. The CPLD is the unit under test, but you have to model the CPU, clocks, transceivers, and SRAM. The SRAM models can check all the signals from the unit under test on every access cycle. You can easily put all the required setup, hold, and pulse-width checks into the SRAM model.

Understanding Enterprise Behavior Using Simulation Models

An important issue in modeling is model validity. Model validation techniques include simulating the model under known input conditions and comparing model output with system output. Generally, a model intended for a simulation study is a mathematical model developed with the help of simulation software.
